Dear Paul

RE: Thank You!

Before meeting you our company insurance was with a local firm who we had no “working relationship” with and there was very little personal service provided by them. After meeting you at a networking event a couple of years ago, your passion for personal service became very clearas well as a good price for insurance products.

A couple of months later, when our company insurance was due for renewal, I asked for a quote from you. I was very surprised to be told that you could not only save us money, but that our policy would also be enhanced – with us receiving additional and enhanced benefits with the policy arranged by you.

That was nearly 2 years ago - since then it is of great comfort to know that you look after all our business insurance, our household insurance and our personal life covers as well.

We will continue to use your services because you look after us very well - nothing is ever too much trouble and we trust you to advise us on matters that are very important.

Thank you very much Paul - you have saved us money and time and have provided us with peace of mind.

Regards,

Jason Stephanides.
